Katie Holmes Wows SYTYCD Choreographer

Are you excited to see Katie Holmes take the dance floor on So You Think You Can Dance?

Well, it seems you should be.

According to toughie choreographer Mia Michaels, Katie is killing it on set.

"She's really blossoming into a gorgeous triple-threat star," Mia said of the actress's moves for the 100th episode of So You Think You Can Dance. "So, I'm excited. I saw clips of it and it's brilliant!"

Katie will be the main focus of a Judy Garland tribute on July 23, and will be shaking her thing for a good cause. You see, SYTYCD has founded a new charity called The Dizzy Feet Foundation, which provides scholarships to young, aspiring dancers, and which has snagged Kate as celebrity sponsor.

"I called Tyce Diorio, choreographer and friend of Katie's] up and I said, 'How would Katie feel about doing something on the show that would bring notoriety to a foundation?'" Executive producer Nigel Lythgoe told People.com. "And he spoke to her, we then got together and Tyce, I and Katie met and discussed the whole thing, and I realized that she was so passionate about the project and I invited her to be a founding member of the whole foundation!"

So, Katie's on board to support the dancers. How fun for her to be showing her stuff on the show? I'm looking forward to it.
